Jack O'Brien Has Arranged One of the Biggest Boxing Bills in the History of the Ring for His Philadelphia Club, There Being Two Champions Among Those Who'll Appear.

Congright, 1911, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).

ACK O'BRIEN is developing more speed as a promoter than he ever showed when he was famous as the Philadelphia dancing master. No other promoter has had the nerve to put on two world's champions, and a a third bout two boys who would a bouse as star bout attraction

One might think that O'Brien's Phila delphia club would be satisfied with such a main event as Ad Wolgast and Knockout Brown. Surely these two will be worth the E to He admission. Volhas leaped into the first rank of the lightweight class and achieved far more popularity than Wolgast himself. There is a big chance that Knockout Brown may finish Wolkast before the end of the sixth round. "Dumb Dan" Morgan pulled off a quite a coup when he slipped Knockout in ahead of Packey McFariand, Owen Moran and Tommy Murphy for a try at the lightweight another world's title may change hands six rounds is a short route for him.

But when Joe Coster and Tommy start in now they will be just right to O'Toole are put in for the first bout one get the benefit of training when it be-

It will cost O'Brien about $12,000 to bill this attraction. But he has the finest and "most salubrious and commodious" club-house in the contry. His receipts ought to come near to $20,000. Philadelphia bouts have occasionally drawn hig inoney. Battling Nelson pulled down over $10,000 as his end when he fought Terry McGovern in the Quaker town.

OE JEANETTE'S letters are of such

"Dear Mr. Edgren-For the first "Dear Mr. Edgren-For the first time since I have been boxing I am writing you a letter of protest. In reading your column I notice that Jack Johnson says he knocked me out. When Johnson told you that he told my seconds to yell 'Foul', he knew that he wasn't telling the cut. When Johnson told you that he told my seconds to yell 'Foul' he knew that he wasn't telling the truth. He struck me low in the second round of that light and knocked me unconscious, and I was carried from the ring in that condition to a police patrol, where I was taken to a hospital, and it was two hours before I recovered, and the police wanted me to prefer charges against Johnson. Jack McGuigan will bear me out in this, as will the newspaper men of Philadelphia.

"I am prepared to put up one thousand ($1,000) dollars as a wager that Johnson can't knock me out.

"We can go into any room and I give Johnson a chance to hit me in the stomach with or without gloves and will forfeit the money if he can knock me out. This offer is good for a public or private trial, anywhere you suggest. I will stand before him and he can take a punch at my stomach, and it is understood that I must not try to block it or protect myself from the blow.

"Knowing your record for fair play, I feel sure that you will publish this answer to Johnson. I remain as ever, yours respectfully.

"JOE JEANETTE."

BANK MANTELL is writing, too. Says Mantell:
"Some few days ago I saw an article in your column about the. Sullivan brothers of Montana. You say these middleweights have arrived say these middleweights have arrived from the West, and, judging from their records, they would make all the Lewises. Burkes and Mantells jump out of a ring and beat it for the back woods. My object in writing these few lines is to inform you that I should be tickled to death to give either of them a chance to accomplish this end. If either Jack or Dan feel so confident of their ability to beat me I will meet them any time, providing, of course, they make the required weight, 15s pounds at 6 o'clock on the evening of the contest. I will post 1500, 1500 of which is to guarantee weight and 1550 appearance. When the requirements are fulfilled the 1500 can go as a side bet. "If these Sullivans really mean

"If these Sullivans really mean business and will fight I will assure you that you will see a fight in which you that you will see a night in which one of the contestants will prove that he can do better than shine shoes for a living. I sincerely hope you will give these few lines space in your valued column, and thanking you in advance, I am, "Yours respectfully."
